AEROPLANE FLIGHTS IN COURT

Case to Be Tried Today Before Judge Walter Knight.

Some of our citizens consider flying machine ascensions as a Sabbath desecration and the two beautiful flights made on Sunday afternoon, the 2d inst., are to be "aired" in the county court before County Judge Knight.

Ira G. Parrish, we learn, was arrested last Friday on a warrant, sworn out by S. L. Cowherd. He gave bond for $200 to appear today.

Mr. Cowherd is president of the Pennyroyal Fair Company and in the statement before Judge Knight, as our informant, says, he charged Mr. Parrish with being a trespasser. Mr. Parrish is the night clerk at Hotel Latham and is a close friend of DeLloyd Thompson, the noted aviator, and was instrumental in bringing Mr. Thompson here for a series of flights week before last.

The four days' ascensions were a failure financially, as is generally known. It is said Mr. Parrish, who seemed to be the party responsible for the consideration for the use of the fair grounds, if there was a monetary consideration, was guilty of trespass in that he used the grounds Sunday, when his contract closed Saturday. As seen in the card published by Mr. Cowherd elsewhere in this issue, Mr. Cowherd protested against the grounds being used that day and did everything he could to prevent it.

The trial today will no doubt draw a big crowd both of those who regard the flight as Sabbath desecration and those who do not. Mr. Parrish has employed an attorney who will make a hard fight for him and prosecution will be conducted by County Attorney Ira D. Smith.

EXPLANATIONRegarding the Sunday Aviation At The Fair Grounds.

As President of the Pennyroyal Fair I want the stockholders and citizens of Christian county to know that I leased the Fair Grounds to the promoter, and have a written contract with him covering the four days, beginning October 29th, and including Saturday November 1st, for the purpose of airship ascensions only. I want the public to know that I did not know until 2 o'clock p. m. Sunday that an aviation meet was anticipated upon that day. Upon this information I called him and asked him if it was true that he was going to have an ascension at the fair grounds he answered: "Yes" I asked him if he had a contract covering this day? And he answered "No." I then told him not to put on an aviation at the Fair Grounds and he answered me: "Allright," leaving me under the impression that it would be called off. A few moments later I was informed that an attempt would be made to fly that afternoon and upon this information I authorized an officer to go upon the grounds and notify him not to allow an ascension, and if they did make a flight to arrest the offending parties. The officer reports that he told them if they attempted the flight they would be arrested but that he was afterwards informed by a lawyer that he had no right to make the arrest without a warrant and therefore no arrest was made.

NO LIBRARY ON PEACE PARK

Judge Hanbery Hands Down His Decision In The Test Case Saturday.

AN APPEAL IS GRANTED

Says The Park Used For The Library Would Be Diverted From Park Purposes.

Judge Hanbery in circuit court Saturday handed down his decision in the test case to settle the question of whether or not the Carnegie Library can be located on Peace Park. He decided that it could not and granted an appeal.

"The fundamental rule," says Judge Hanbery, "for the construction of wills is to ascertain the real intention of the testator."

Continuing he said:

"The real intention of the testator, as expressed in section 5 of his will, is perfectly plain to any one of ordinary intelligence, who reads it. In fact, the court is at a loss to understand how words could have been selected or arranged into sentences that would have more aptly expressed the intention of the testator than words and arrangements employed. He bequeathed to the city of Hopkinsville, Kentucky, the 'Warehouse Lot,' upon condition that said lot should be used FOREVER as a PUBLIC PARK. Here we have a lot of ground, accurately described by boundary and location, and in its entirety given to the city in TRUST for a specific purpose, and such specific purpose is that it shall be used forever as a public park.

"With the real intention of the testator expressed in such plain and unambiguous terms, the court is unable to say that such lot, or any part of it, can be used for any purposes other than for park purposes. It is true the erection of the library building upon one corner of this lot might not seriously interfere with the enjoyment of the remainder, as a park for the public; indeed, it might be conceded that the location of the library building, as indicated, would add materially to the comfort, pleasure and entertainment of persons visiting the park, yet the fact remains that the placing of the building upon one corner of the lot would be in violation of the real intention of the testator. Because certainly that portion of the lot which is covered by the library building could not be used for park purposes; park purposes cannot be said to be identical with library purposes.

"Again, the placing of the library building, donated by the Carnegie Corporation of New York, upon one corner of the lot which had been donated to the city by John C. Latham for park purposes, would in its practical effect eclipse the generosity of Mr. Latham, the first donor, and at the expense of his benevolence magnify the generosity of the Carnegie Corporation of New York; certainly this was not the intention of the testator."

The court quoted the statutes of Kentucky to show that when a donor applies his bounty to a specific charity selected by himself, then neither the bounty nor the smallest portion of it may be applied to any other object. The defendants, the Library Board and the city are therefore enjoined from carrying out the contract with the Forbes Manufacturing company for the erection of a library building on the property.

D. WARD KING COMING HERE

Secretary Bleich Signed Contract For His Coming.

SPLIT LOG CONTRIVANCE USED

Every Farmer at Nominal Cost Can Make Machine at Home.

It is a conceded fact that the split log drag is the best contrivance for working dirt roads that has ever been used. The inventor is D. Ward King, and he is to be here during the five demonstration days, beginning December 2nd. The committee appointed by the Hopkinsville Business Men's Association consists of Geo. E. Gary, Frank Yost, J. C. Johnson, J. M. Neblett, H. M. Frankel, Alf H. Eckles, H. A. Keach and the secretary of the association, C. H. Bleich. The committee appointed by the Fiscal Court is composed of Magistrates Morris and Moore. Mr. Bleich, acting for both bodies, last Wednesday closed a contract with Mr. Seed, Dr. King's agent, to have the Doctor come here and take part in the five day's demonstrations. The promptness of the Fiscal Court to act with the H. B. M. A. has been favorably commented on, its appropriation of $250 out of the funds of the county towards defraying the expenses necessary to be incurred has been generally endorsed by our citizens.

Christian County farmers are among the most prosperous in the state. With the exception of burley tobacco, bluegrass, hemp, and probably alfalfa, their land is adapted for the growth of every crop grown in Kentucky. The price of land is advancing continually. They are freer from debt than most farmers and they are progressive. Though our roads are much better than many wealthy counties there is great room for improvement. The farmers are awake to this and are determined to have a more perfect system of roads, for they all know it will be to their interest. The H. B. M. A. is making a campaign for better roads and is backed up by a Fiscal Court that is as deeply interested as the association. So, before another year rolls around it may certainly be predicted that Christian county will be the banner county for good roads. The distinction is worth striving for and the farmers will get into line with an earnestness and enthusiasm that is sure to win. Talk roads to your neighbors and do all you can for a plan that promises income in the long run for every farmer.

Mrs. Alice Chastain Sandidge, of Marshall, Mo., who was born in this county and was a student of Bethel Female College in its early history when Prof. J. W. Rust was the President, is a guest of Rev. and Mrs. H. D. Smith. Dr. Smith was reared in Marshall and Mrs. Sandidge was the teacher of his class in Sunday School and had much to do with his becoming a minister and ultimately one of the leading men of his denomination. He came from Marshall 16 years ago to be pastor of the First Christian church, which has more than doubled its membership under his care and now has nearly 1,000 members. Mrs. Sandidge is a niece of the late Maj. C. M. Tandy and is extensively related in Hopkinsville and Christian county.

COUNCIL IN SESSION

Cuts Off Appropriations For Cemetery Improvements.

The City Council met Friday night with all present and appropriated the budget of accounts amounting to $1,352.18. An appropriation of $150 was made to pay a court judgment in favor of Palmer Graves.

An appropriation of $2,500 made last spring to erect a public vault in Riverside Cemetery was set aside and rescinded.

An appropriation of $500 made in 1912 to reclaim and beautify the Pioneer Graveyard on 13th street, on condition that the ladies of the Civic Improvement League raise an equal amount, was also rescinded. The Mayor notified the Council that $250 had been raised and asked that $250 of the appropriation be used, which was refused.

W. C. Watson & Co. were granted liquor license in the present stand of J. B. Lindsay.

Treasurer Geo. DeTreville was allowed a salary of $50 a year for his services as Secretary of the Park Commission.

Mayor Meacham in a written communication asked that the Council re-enact ordinance No. 30, under which the contract for street improvements was made, amending it to put the entire expense of the paved streets on the abutting property owners, instead of half of it on the city. The Council declined to take action. He recommended that bids be opened for kinds of standard streets and the property owners be allowed to decide which they preferred.

The Mayor also called attention to the expiration of the contracts for light and water Nov. 16 with the statement that they could not be renewed under the construction of the law recently made by Judge Hanbery until after Jan. 1st. No action was taken about renewing the contracts.

FLOATING DEBT

Of The City Was Wiped Out Yesterday.

The City Council Friday night authorized the Mayor to draw warrants for the entire floating debt of the city, bank notes aggregating $20,000 borrowed for the general fund and $4,950 borrowed for the school fund. The notes were paid off yesterday and the city now has no outstanding debts except $6,500 of refunded O. V. Railroad bonds and $66,000 of High School bonds, not due. Hopkinsville is in the best financial condition it has been in since 1891.
